Now we're heading for the warmer, drier weather, what could be better than a bracing country walk or bike ride? The countryside around Woodham Walter is perfect and a right royal lunch at The Queen Victoria pub will set you up after your exercise!

The countryside around the village of Woodham Walter is the perfect walking terrain with woodland, arable fields and lovely views across rural Essex.

But all that walking builds an appetite and The Queen Victoria in Woodham Walter is a great place to finish your walk with a hearty pub lunch and a decent pint. The pub even offers a menu specifically for ramblers, but the many visiting cyclists, golfers and footballers are also allowed to order from it!

The Queen Victoria has recently been taken over by Chiarina and Daren Farrell and is a traditional country pub at the heart of the village community.

Daren and Chiarina have wasted no time in putting their stamp on the pub and have been redecorating and refurbishing throughout the winter, ready for a busy walking and cycling season. They have also updated the pub's function room.

The Queen Victoria has two main bars, open fires and ample seating so there's plenty of space for all, whether dining or just popping in for a pint. There are two spacious terraces and a large car park.

The Ramblers menu features hearty pub grub such as a homemade soup with a crusty baguette, ham, double egg and chips, homemade chilli and rice or a creamy white wine and mushroom pasta served with garlic bread, plus a good selection of sandwiches and baguettes.

Just fancy a small snack? The pub offers bar snacks for £3.50 including cheesy or plain chips, mini cocktail sausages with wholegrain mustard, BBQ chicken wings, garlic mushrooms or chicken dippers. There is also a more extensive menu, daily specials and a kids selection.

That brisk walk will also help you do justice to the filling Sunday Roast on offer at the Queen Vic!
